CAMPBELL TO HAVE DOLLAR DAYS IN OCTOBER

The Campbell Chamber of Commerce met Wednesday for the first general meeting of the body since the election of new officers last month. The meeting was called to order by newly-elected President Eugene Barnes at 8 o'clock.

Campbell merchant members expressed approval of the manner in which the Friday night opening campaign in Campbell has been progressing. It was the consensus that to date the campaign had been a success from the standpoint of customer relations and educating the buying public that service and merchandise in Campbell is as good as obtainable elsewhere.

Tom Burnett and Wm. Means of the general merchants committee proposed a dollar day for Campbell. Means presented a dummy copy of proposed advertising to be used by local merchants through the campaign and stated that if 24 merchants entered the promotion the sum to each would be nominal. If more than 24 entered the sum would be lowered. In any event the cost would be borne proportionately by all participating businessmen. The event as proposed is slated for the latter part of October with a wide representative group of Campbell, Cambrian and San Tomas merchants participating.

Chamber President Barnes stated that the Dollar Day committee would be appointed in the near future as he would like sufficient time to select men who will devote the necessary time to the promotion to insure the success of the campaign.

Secretary - Manager Forrest Reese announced that all organizations in the Campbell area, comprising Campbell, Cambrian and San Tomas have been asked to delegate a member to attend the regular board of directors meetings of the chamber each month. The object being to better coordinate community events and interests through a better understanding of problems confronting the respective organizations. It was also requested that organizations send the names of their delegates to the secretary-manager.

Gladys Merriman Passes Here After Lingering Illness

Miss Gladys Merriman, well-known Campbell woman, died at her home on Third street in Campbell early Friday morning after a long illness.

Born August 19th, 1903 at Agness, Ore., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy R. Merriman, she came to California with her parents in infancy. She attended school in Watsonville and Campbell, graduating from Campbell High School and also from San Jose State College.

For many years Miss Merriman was employed in the office of the County Librarian, later in the Campbell postoffice, and more recently in the audio-visual department of the office of the county superintendent of schools.

Miss Merriman's helpful and Christian attitude toward life was well typified in her church work. A life-long member of the Congregational Church of Campbell, she taught in the Sunday school for more than 25 years, where she had charge of the primary department until her last illness. The lives of hundreds of little children have come under her inspiring wholesome. Her work with the children was one important consideration when the church recently dedicated its newest addition, which is used mainly for the primary department, "Merriman Hall."

She was also a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club of San Jose.

Survivors are her sister, Mrs. Vestal Royce of Campbell; and three aunts, Miss Lurena Merriman, Miss Ethel Merriman, and Mrs. Marilla Gundl, all of Tucson, Arizona.

General Increase In School Enrollment; Moreland Total Near Double Last Year's

Clark's Drugs To Aid Nurse Recruitment

In a striking attempt to spark the current drive for the recruitment of student nurses, a vitally urgent matter in view of the critical international situation, Clark's Drug Company will feature a dramatic and eye-arresting window display—a salute to the American Nurse.

The display, contributed by McKesson & Robbins, in cooperation with the Advertising Council, Inc., as a public service, is designed to highlight nursing as a proud profession, and thus evoke interest in nursing as a career for high school graduates. Consequently, general information about nursing, and application to schools of nursing, will be available at the store.

L. E. Means, Clark's Drugs' manager, emphasized that each community must do its share to recruit student nurses, that the nursing shortage can only be solved on the local level. He went on to say that nursing today is filled with opportunity for qualified young women.

"Nursing," said Mr. Means, "represents opportunity, prestige, satisfaction and security for all those who adopt this proud profession. Nurses receive a professional education useful throughout life, work with the finest people, have a choice of fine jobs and location, have a career with a real future."

The current need for student nurses has been estimated at 50,000 for the coming year.

Rotarians Hear Harrington Of H. M. Gousha Co.

Highlight of Monday's Rotary Club meeting was the presentation of a talk by Mr. Joseph Harrington, of the H. M. Gousha Co., San Jose, on the subject of "Map Making." Mr. Harrington delved far back into history for examples of early techniques, then followed up his subject by going into detail on modern methods.

An interesting sidelight was his reference to the collecting of maps as a hobby. He said that the U.S. government had printed many fine maps on the progress of our armed forces in various areas during the late war. While obsolete in a short time for their original purpose, they make fine collector's items. He also detailed the methods of showing elevations on two-dimensional map surfaces by the use of lines tracing the elevations.

The mechanical processes were studied also. The drawings are first roughed, then inked, then photographed by a gigantic camera onto a negative, which is transferred to a plate. The plate then goes to the pressroom where the map is printed by the lithographic process.

Mr. C. P. Klassen, of the Campbell Kiwanis club, gave the Rotarians a pleasant interlude by leading the group in several songs. The speaker for next week's gathering will be the Rev. Joyce W. Farr, of the First Methodist Church, San Jose, a member of the San Jose Rotary Club.

Fred Jones Sr. was elected president of the Campbell Kiwanis Club Monday for the 1951 term. Others named to serve with him are Laruanee J. Hill, vice-president; Ethan Lanphear, treasurer; Guy E. Farley was re-appointed treasurer.

Mrs. Joan Lauber vice-chairman of the San Jose Red Cross chapter, spoke to the Kiwanians on the mental hospital at Agnew. Seventy percent of the patients return to normal life, she told the group, and urged that people learn to regard mental illness as similar to any other illness.

When the mental patients are set apart, she said, this attitude has a damaging effect on the patients' ego.

Agnew State Hospital now has about 4000 patients, she stated, and there are no bars or restraining devices to hold the patients.

Visitors at the meeting were Jerry Karstan of Modesto, Frank Blachli, Dr. Zimmerman and Arno Bachrodt, all of San Jose, and Kai Carson of San Lorenzo Valley.

Jack Barrett, grammar school district music superintendent, was a guest of the club.

In order to handle the increased enrollment, the teaching staff has been increased from 10 to 13, plus a part-time speech teacher.

Cambrian

Principal Delos M. Bagby of Cambrian Elementary School reported enrollment at his school as up to 650, an increase of 75 over last year. Biggest increase is in the primary grades, with the kindergarten having a registration of 80. Ten pupils are on the waiting list. The first grade registered 105, 20 more than last year. The 84 pupil total for the second grade marks a slight increase over the 1949 enrollment.

A spot check conducted for the State Department of Education along two streets in the district resulted in a survey report showing 178 children between the ages of 1 and 18 years in the 91 homes checked, or a total of nearly two children per home.

Cambrian Home and School Club committee members who made the survey were Mrs. George L. Petrea, club president; Mrs. Clarence Helmbold, past president; Mrs. Fred O'Neal, Mr. Allan and Mrs. R. Button.

One hundred and forty-two more pupils than last year's total were registered this week at Union Elementary School, Principal Kenneth McDonnell announced. Even the opening day figure was low, for it mounted from 383 to 387 by yesterday, compared to 243 for the previous year.

A new class instituted this year is the kindergarten class, with an enrollment of 60 pupils. First grade figure for this year is 58, compared with 42 in 1949.

Season's Outstanding Ceremony Unites Georgene Lloyd And David Bowen In Marriage At 'Graylands'

One of the loveliest of the early autumn weddings was held at "Graylands," country home of the William Ninde Lloyds near Campbell, when Georgene, their younger daughter, became the bride of David Eugene Bowen. They chose the wedding date of September 20 because it was the wedding anniversary of the bride's parents. The ceremony was held at eight o'clock in the evening. The exquisite setting was the small east garden, with tall poplars rising like Gothic spires in the background, and huge urns of white lilies and chrysanthemums banked with maidenhair fern on either side of the white satin kneeling pillow. The invited guests were seated on either side of the green aisle down which the bridal party passed.

Preceding the ceremony, which was performed by the bride's grandfather, the Rev. William H. Lloyd, who had officiated also at the wedding of her parents, organ music was played by Reginald Greenbrook.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Robert Hicks, who was gown in pale green tulle with off-the-shoulder styling and uneven hemline. She carried autumn lilies. Then came the bride on her father's arm. Her radiant blonde beauty was enhanced by her exquisite gown of tulle was held with a half wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried the Testament brought to her from Jerusalem by her maternal grandmother, Mrs. John C. Ainsley, marked with a spray of Cymbidium orchids. They were met at the altar by the groom, with his father, Paul Bowen as best man. At the conclusion of the wedding ceremony, the Rev. Lawrence J. Osborne sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's mother was gown in dark and light green chiffon with a bouvardia corsage, while the groom's mother chose a dull gold crepe gown with orchid corsage. The ushers were Robert Hicks, husband of the matron of honor, and Paul Bowen Jr., brother of the groom.

The wedding reception was held in the garden near the pool, which reflected the table set in the open poolhouse. Other tables were placed on the terrace and in the dining room, each elegantly appointed. The bride's cake was surrounded by nosegays of bouvardia and crowned with lilies of the valley.

Some two hundred people were asked to the reception, while those witnessing the wedding were mainly members of the families. Mrs. Bowen's going-away costume was a sapphire blue suit and black accessories, with a topcoat of blue and gray plaid.

They will be at home in a new apartment near San Jose State where they are both in attendance. Mr. Bowen's fraternity is Theta Mu Sigma, while Mrs. Bowen is affiliated with Kappa Kappa Gamma.

VFW Auxiliary Plans Magazine Sales Drive

Lt. Byron Lanphear Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars held its regular meeting Friday evening at the Country Woman's clubrooms, in Campbell with President Ona Chubb presiding. The members of the auxiliary and members of the post enjoyed a pot-luck supper prior to the regular meeting.

Charles F. Henselman of the Curtis Publishing company offered to conduct a magazine sale for the hospital and veteran welfare program. Members of the auxiliary are assisting him with the drive and all proceeds will be used by the auxiliary for veteran welfare and the program for the VA hospital at Palo Alto. The auxiliary is in hopes the public will give this program its full support.

A home baked foods sale was planned for Saturday, September 23, at 10 a.m. in the vacant building next to the bank. Plans for a feather card party to pre-put. This will also be a public party.

Mrs. Ethan Lanphear and Harriet Gracier were initiated into membership as this was the final meeting before closing the charter. The auxiliary now has 43 charter members. Mrs. Lanphear is the mother of Lt. Byron Lanphear for whom the post is named.

Mrs. Walter Schraub and Mrs. Ernestine Jones of Mt. View Auxiliary and Mrs. Lee Castleberry of Major Randolph T. Zane Auxiliary of San Jose were guests.

Plans are under way for another drive for new members as the 1951 dues will become payable October 1. Anyone wishing to affiliate with the auxiliary can enjoy 15 months of auxiliary work on one year's dues by joining in October. Mothers, sisters, wives or daughters of overseas veterans are urged to phone either Campbell 3002 or 4374. A member will call and assist in filling out the applications.

MOVIEGRAMS

By Harold Donner

Here's a special invitation to one and all to come to Sunny-mount Theater's 9th anniversary birthday party. It's an all day affair starting with the matinee on Saturday, September 30 when the first 200 children entering the Campbell Theater will receive a free ice cream bar. Saturday night we'll cut the cake. While Pa and Ma run their country Store the cake will be served. It will be a howling big night.

From the jungles of darkest Hollywood comes word that William 'Hopalong' Boyd will co-star with Bing 'Hapalong' Crosby in a forthcoming movie. Not to be outdone by his cohort, Bob 'the nose' Hope will do likewise with Roy 'King Cowboy' Rogers. Then Mr. Hope will take Arthur Godfrey for better or worse, and if Godfrey's radio popularity is any criterion it will be much better. At any rate they are due for a co-starring stint.

Word comes along via the trade channels, that Boxoffice Magazine has awarded the "Boxoffice Blue Ribbon" award for August to Walt Disney's Treasure Island. Lucky us, we play it in early October. "The Broken Arrow," blue ribbon award winner for September will play next Sunday. Hurray.

Wex also discovered that the underworld being as powerful as it is, police protection was required for the casts and crew of 711 Ocean Drive during the filming of that illustrious expose of the various rackets in operation around the clock in California. Ironically that this information should come in three days before 711 Ocean Drive opens at the Campbell Theater.

P. S.—711 plays next Thursday and Friday. That'll be all till next week.

HURT IN ACCIDENT

Mrs. Ruth Dana, 58, of 1093 Broadway Avenue, San Jose, was taken to O'Connor Hospital last week for observation after a truck-auto accident at Foxworthy Avenue and San Jose-Los Gatos Road. Her husband, Alonzo, 56, received treatment for lacerations. Dana's car and a pickup truck operated by Dudley S. Davis, 42, of 200 N. Union Avenue, collided.

James Walter Lawson, 17, and Dowell Christenbery, 19, both of Wedgewood Road, received injuries last Thursday night when their car, driven by Lawson, struck a telephone pole on Winchester Road

Old And Modern Instruments On Display At School

Musical instruments of all types, ancient and modern will be on public display next Tuesday night between 7:30 and 9 p.m. in the main hall of Campbell Grammar School. The display collection includes specimens that range from shiny, new trumpets and a left-handed clarinet of the 1870's to a rebec, 12th century forerunner of the violin family. An abridged version of the film, "The Great Waltz," will be shown in the school auditorium during the evening display.

Campbell district school children will examine the collection during school hours Tuesday as part of a special district activity to introduce fourth and fifth graders to the school instrumental music program.

Instruments are being loaned from the private collections of Alfred Lanini, violin maker and John Bolland Jr., maker of violin bows. The modern instruments are furnished by a San Jose music store and by the school.

The program has been arranged by instrumental music teachers Richard Gordon and Jack Barrett in cooperation with Mrs. Ruth Stuart, curriculum coordinator for the school district.

Rally Day Planned By Methodists

Sunday is Rally Day at the Methodist Church. The Sunday school classes will meet in the church at 9:45 for a special Rally Day program under the leadership of Mr. Robert McCall, the chairman of the Church Board of Education. Awards for perfect attendance in Sunday School will be given. Gift Bibles will be given to those being promoted into the Junior Department. Promotion certificates will be given to all pupils going into new departments.

The regular Sunday morning worship services will be held at 11 o'clock, with the sermon by the Pastor, Mrs. Edith H. Van Rosen will play the organ for the service.

near Vasona Junction. Christenbery was taken to Santa Clara County Hospital for treatment of injuries. Lawson's were not so serious.

Moorpark Carnival Committees Hold Planning Session

Reports from committee chairmen for the Moorpark Carnival were heard at a joint meeting of the Moorpark Men's Club and PTA held Wednesday night at Moorpark school.

According to Mrs. H. G. Findley, co-chairman for the carnival, local merchants have been very generous in their contributions of prizes for the event, which will be held Saturday, September 30. Lists of home made articles which the mothers of students in the various classes at the school are to furnish were sent home by students this week. This list includes handwork, baked goods and candy, popcorn balls, plants, flowers, and garden items.

Daylight Saving Ends Sunday

Sunday's the day to catch up on your sleep, especially this Sunday when Californians will gain an extra hour as clocks are turned back to Standard Time.

The hour was lost last April when the state went on Daylight Saving Time for the summer months.

Daylight Saving Time ends at 2 a.m. Sunday, so those who plan to be abed by that hour should turn the clock back one hour before hitting the pillow.

Livestock Show Opens October 27

Horse show exhibitors across the nation today had a chance to study thoroughly the attractive prizes and stakes awaiting them at the Cow Palace in San Francisco, as the Grand National Horse Show Classification Books went into the mail.

When the 1950 Grand National Livestock Exposition, Horse Show and Rodeo opens October 27 for a ten-day run, the tanbark enthusiasts will be competing for over $25,000 in prize and stake money and some of the nation's most highly coveted trophies.

The horse show will offer complete classes of both fine and Western horses. These classes will alternate with events of the International Rodeo Association championship finals and other spectacular specialty acts.

As 14 performances of the combined horse show and rodeo are presented—nightly and at Saturday and Sunday matinees—audiences will watch the championship finals of the National Cutting Horse Association. These highly intelligent animals from the Southwestern plains are adept at removing a single steer from the herd without guidance from their rider.

Also featured will be the finals of the American Horse Shows Association's Medal Class Stock Seat Competition for children, while hunters and jumpers will receive their final awards at the show's end. Polo ponies, although they do not compete at the Cow Palace, will also receive the 1950 awards there.

A versatile actor, Mr. Jerome was featured for many years on Broadway in vaudeville and comedy. THE CONSTANT INVADER, 13 dramas based on true-life incidents in the fight against tuberculosis, was produced in New York by the National Tuberculosis Association.

PERSONALITY PARADE
... Leading the evident youth movement among the coaching staff at Campbell high school is Jim Muir, 25-year-old football coach beginning his first year on the local campus.

It also marks his initial head coaching position, although he has served two years as assistant coach at Woodland high.

Asked what he thinks of the athletic set-up at the high school, Muir answered that he was and is greatly impressed by the physical education program offered at the school and, as a result, optmistic over the future of Campbell athletic teams.

Jim Muir

He also likes the idea of three football elevens being activated. They are the varsity, junior varsity (for the first time) and the lightweights.

"The three ball clubs give all the kids ample opportunity to play the game and learn the fundamentals and helps us build and prepare for the future," the curly headed ex-California quarterback commented.

Muir explained that in the school's PE classes the basic facts of various sports are taught, like basketball, football and baseball. Thus the individual has some technical knowledge of any given sport and is ready to be taught and learn accordingly.

Coach Muir while matriculating at the University of California, earned three football letters. He played halfback his first year but was switched to quarterback in his junior year. He played but one season under Lynn "Pappy" Waldorf, the genial gent from Northwestern University who has placed the Berkeley school among the gridiron powers of the country.

Muir has nothing but respect for Pappy whom he considers one of the greatest organizers in the coaching business. The Bucs' new mentor stated, "His record speaks for itself," referring to Waldorf's PCC championships the past two years.

Muir, who is a quiet, solemn person until he becomes reasonably acquainted, was born in Loa, Utah, a small mountain town in the southern part of the state, just east of the Sierra Madre range.

Since his folks moved to Oakland a year later, in 1926, Muir considers himself a true Californian. He went to Oakland grammar schools and high school. While in the higher institutions of learning he played three years of varsity football with a little basketball thrown in for good measure. In 1942 he was named all-city quarterback.

Following a hitch in the service, Muir entered Cal, where he was graduated in 1945, with his teaching degree in PE. Although he had several opportunities to accept head coaching jobs at various bay area high schools, Muir refused and instead went to Woodland high as assistant football coach for the sake of additional experience and over-all know-how. He remained there through the '49 season, augmenting his pigskin duties with track and basketball chores.

Campbell school officials approached him last fall regarding his present position. Though a neophyte concerning the local set-up, Muir met the football squad during its two-week spring practice, and has acquired some vague player background.

Excluding his apparent competent staff, Muir is more than pleased with the remaining football picture and affiliated personnel.

"With such men as George Eglar and Bill Means handling the equipment and training duties so ably and thoroughly, all my worries can be directed toward strictly football problems," Muir said.

Along the matrimonial tract, he is a victim of a high school acquaintance. He married his high school sweetheart, Beverly. Wed for four-and-a-half years they have one daughter, Linnie, age two. The Muirs have purchased a home recently on Carlyn avenue, only a quick kick from the school.

EXCUSES, EXCUSES... Over the Labor Day holiday, eight outdoor aspirants of Campbell spent the week-end at the Duncan Mill on the Russian River. With rod-and-reel and ready rifles, they were prepared to take their quota of deer and seasonal fish.

The eager ones were Mr. and Mrs. Reed Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Al Hughes and sons Dennis and Allen, Jake "Buz" Hughes and Miss Charline Kuykendall.

To be blunt, honest and to the point, their rugged sojourn went for naught. They couldn't even catch a healthy, three-week cold. That in itself is rather surprising for Buz, one of the printers in this 'yar establishment, is regarded as the best stalker, breeder and trainer of type lice this side of Mr. Fontman.

Like all frustrated hunters and anglers, their return home was marked with a score of alibis, excuses and reasons for the failure. Some were plausible, some weren't.

Why six adults (Dennis and Allen are only 3 and 4) couldn't bribe, purloin or borrow at least one measly fish is amazing indeed. According to their story, your honor, there were too many speed boats zooming about, preventing decent fishing.

One would think that with such life-menacing antics occurring above water, the fishes would gladly grab the nearest line as means of sudden death but ultimate escape from all that dancing upstairs.

Thus their fish fables go. Let us ponder over the "enter-hunter-and-exodus deer" excuse. According to the Hughes Wilderness Expedition, the land 100 miles north and 100 miles south was posted, meaning no hunting in this spot podner.

If nothing else, at least our neighbors are law-abiding citizens.

ONE NAP TO MANY...

This is a short yarn about a veteran hunter and a buck who had the ill-fortune of sleeping in deer season.

While on his vacation at the Parra Ranch in Fresno County, Jim Prout, 68-year-old local nirod, took in a little deer hunting.

While trekking through the woods with his host, Jim spied a 145-lb. 3-point buck peacefully slumbering at the foot of a tree. Being considerate to the nth degree, Prout decided that the buck should retire into the arms of Morpheus on a permanent basis. So from a distance of 60 yards he raised his 250-Savage and bid the animal a pleasant journey to the place where dead bucks reside. Probably the "happy-no-hunting grounds."

Prout, who has been deer tracking for the past 54 seasons, estimates that in all that time he has bagged about 35 to 40 bucks. As he recalls, the largest one was a 185-lb. buck with five pointers on one side and four on the other. It was no doubt in the midst of changing clothes for the fall fashion season.

Jim shot the prize hunk of venison on the Loma Prieta range while working at an adjacent quick silver mine. Needless to say, that was many years ago. But for sure.

Cameron, Eleanor. "The Unheard Music." 1950. Twenty-four hours in the life of a reference librarian in a university town in California provide an unusually interesting story about people who come to matter a great deal to us as the hours of the eventful day ring out from the nearby campanile. Jane is thirty, bookish, but more essentially interested in people than books—hence she has many friends. As we meet these people, small crises arise within the world-within-a-world where he works; finally tragedy comes to a musician whom she has befriended; and as the book ends, Jane makes a choice which proves she has come of age emotionally. This is a distinguished first novel about the kind of people we would like to call our friends.

Orme, Alexander. "Comes The Comrade." 1950. This is the frank and entertaining diary of a Polish migre, who, married to a Hungarian aristocrat, veteran of a Gestapo concentration camp, welcomed the approach of the Red Army as liberators. Facing the terror and destruction that followed with wit and resourcefulness, the author learned a great deal about Communism in general and the Red soldier in particular. This she tells in an account that is both horrifying and humorous. She found that the Russian soldier stood in awe of culture. "Everyone tried to pass himself off as an engineer, a soloist in the Leningrad opera, or a professor. In the land of the peasants and workers there did not seem to be any peasants or workers at all." By declaring herself a student of "two years art college" she became an intellectual and hence inviolate. Many a more technical study will yield a less vivid and perceptive picture of the Russian and the Red army than this day-by-day account.

Paul, Charlotte. "Hear My Heart Speak." 1950. A victim of shell shock, this veteran of World War I is sentenced to silence for 30 years. His own faith and the courage of those about him help him to adjust to a new world in which he cannot greet his friends.

cannot sing as he has done before, cannot conduct his everyday life in habitual fashion. The story of Spence Atkins and of Phoebe whom he loved, is one of the simple heartwarming stories whose keynote is kindness and friendliness, where the reader shares the sorrows and ultimate happiness of the people who live through its pages.

Freedman, Benedict and Nancy. "This and No More." 1950. This is the story of one man's life and his desire to find some meaning in the things that have happened to him. Beginning with his invalid boyhood, on through the depression years when his brilliant mind is wasted on mediocre jobs, and continuing with his idyllic marriage to Fredda, Lucien Sadler is constantly faced with troublesome or—more often—with tragic problems. Crowded with people and episodes, this is not a psychological study, but concerns itself with the impact of events on one family's destiny. This is another collaboration by the authors of the best-selling "Mrs. Mike."

Hungerford, Edward. Wells Fargo: Advancing the American Frontier. 1949. The history of this intensely American enterprise is recorded from its organization in 1852 by Henry Wells and William Fargo until 1918 when it merged with the Adams and American to form the American Railway Express. Mr. Hungerford's style is not overly colorful, but he writes well about the old west, stagecoach drivers, bandits and detectives. His sketch of the famous bandit, Blarck Bart is especially dramatic.

Stewart, George R. "Earth Abides." 1949. Remembered for his graphic "Storm" and "Fire," George Stewart tells about a plague and its results on the civilization of 1949 in "Earth Abides." The story starts with the return of Ish Williams from the isolation of a geologic research trip to the high mountains of California. He returns to find that a plague has practically wiped out the population of the world. With a few remaining survivors, Ish organizes the Tribe, attempts to carry on the civilization of his time. As the other survivors are not highly educated, Ish becomes leader, and as the Tribe increases, is finally venerated as a kind of half-god. In the end a primitive sort of culture is evolved and Ish knows that the survival of the Tribe is assured. Written in Stewart's characteristic style, the story carries a fascinating idea to a logical conclusion.

POPULAR RECORDS: Billy Eckstine, whose recent personal appearance in San Jose was such a success, belts out a luring tour de force in a humdinger of a song called THE SHOW MUST GO ON (MGM 10778). The balladeer is backed by a large orchestra which adds immeasurably to the all-over effect. The platter-mate is a mood song YOU'VE GOT ME CRYING Eckstine sings this one with deep feeling.

The oldie HARBOR LIGHTS is Sammy Kaye's first record since his switch to the Columbia label. Sammy turns out an excellent mood rendition of this old favorite ably assisted by Tony Alamo and the Kaydets (Columbia 38963).

Two more oldies are offered back to back on an new platter by the Andrews Sisters — THERE WILL NEVER BE ANOTHER YOU AND CAN'T WE TALK IT OVER (Decca 27115). Expert vocal work by the girls plus the superb musicianship of Gordon Jenkins, the orchestra and the chorus add up to a disc that you will be hearing time after time. The vocal harmony on the upper crust, with a spot chorus by Patty Andrews makes this slow tempting ballad the kind of music that grows on you the more you hear it.

Vaughn Monroe put out with a "Whiffenpoofish" gang-sing called THE BEER I LEFT ON THE BAR (Victor 20-3880). Tune moves along at a merry pace and has an infectious lilt that is pleasing. The flip is from the flicker "Let's Dance" and has Vaughn taking the slow and easy lyric of WHY FIGHT THE FEELING in relaxed style.

Al Goodman has added another to his big series of operetta packages—this time it's VICTOR HERBERT: NAUGHTY MARIETTA (Victor WK-22). Earl Wrightson, Elaine Malbin, Jimmy Carroll and the Guild Choristers share the spotlight in this choice collection. Songs included are Tramp, Tramp, Tramp; neath the Southern Moon; I'm Falling in Love with Someone; Naughty Marietta; Italian Street Song and Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life.

CHILDREN'S RECORDS: The first releases of recently organized Children's Record Guild have arrived and I am most enthusiastic over the quality of the material presented. The emphasis is on active listening and other forms of musical and dramatic participation. Records that stimulate the child's imagination and allow him to carry over the ideas presented into his own play are exceptionally valuable and equally rare. These Children's Record Guild discs are divided into two age groups—the 2 to 4 and the 5 to 8. Try SKITTERY SKATTER for the small fry and RIDE 'EM COWBOY for the 5 to 8 group and I am sure your children will have lots of fun with these records.

CLASSICAL RECORDS: BEETHOVEN: SERENADE IN D MAJOR for FLUTE, VIOLIN and

VIOLA is performed by John Wurmer, Alexander Schneider and Milton Katims (Columbia ML 2124). The performance is rich in spirited gaiety and provided a welcome change from the heavy symphonic fare that most of us associate with Beethoven.

Try some chamber music of Brahms instead of his symphonies for variety. The BRAHMS QUARTET No. 1 in G Minor for piano and strings is a lovely work filled with warm romantic feeling and beautiful melodies. The performance is by Rudolf Serkin and the Busch Quartet (Columbia ML 4296). Chamber music can be the source of some of the most personalized pleasure in music and many of us pass by the charms of these smaller, more intimate works of the great composers for their better known larger works.

FRANK: PIANO QUINTET in F Minor performed by the Chigi Quintet is another seldom heard but interesting selection of chamber music. Frank's chamber music is not always easy to take, mainly because it is so diffuse. The Quintet is virtually symphonic in construction and Frank's cyclical mode of composition makes this quite different from the more familiar forms of chamber music. The depth of emotion and dramatic expression in Frank's Quintet however, come out as mere sentimentality in this overly sentimental performance by the Chigi Quintet (London LLP-201).

WIDE-OPEN GAMBLING INITIATIVE

Far and away the hottest measure on California's November 7, 1950, General Election ballot promises to be Proposition No. 6—promoted by the Allen - Owen clique of $30 Every Thursday and Ham and Eggs fame.

Proposition No. 6, a long, exceedingly complex initiative constitutional amendment, has as its prime purpose the "legalization" of all-out gambling in the State of California under the control of a five-man commission, its promoters. The promoters would be written into office by passage of this "Pension and Welfare Funding Act."

After deducting heavy administrative costs, any remaining funds the State derived from gambling—if any—would be used to defray pension costs.

Without attempting to cover all the points in Proposition No. 6, its more important provisions are as follows:

SELF-APPOINTED

The first five gambling commissioners, who are naming themselves to office in the Act, would be Roy G. Owens, Willis Allen, Glen S. Wilson, Cliff Kallam, and

Casting Tryouts Monday Evening For Workshop's Next Production,

Tryouts for the next Los Gatos Adult Theater Workshop play, "Anne of the Thousand Days," by Maxwell Anderson, will be conducted Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock by Workshop Director Lillian Fontaine in Los Gatos High School auditorium.

Mrs. Fontaine has called for a large turnout for the costume drama tryouts, since there will be parts for 31 players in the production. Besides the six female roles in the play, there are parts for a large number of men of assorted ages.

A glamorous, spirited young woman is needed for the lead role in the play which deals with the love life of Anne Boleyn and Henry VIII. There is a role for a beautiful girl, the sister, Mary, and the mother of the two. The part of Mark requires a poetic and emotional young man who can sing. Henry, himself, is a big, husky mature man with a good, hearty speaking voice. Subordinate roles include many courtiers and a lady in waiting.

Drama critics in general consider "Anne of the Thousand Days" to be Maxwell Anderson at his best. The tale begins when Henry first takes amorous notice of Anne Boleyn, and carries through the love life of the two to the day of Anne's beheading.

Nathan T. Porter, Proposition No. 2 on the same November ballot will prohibit such procedure in the future.

The Act provides that all the money required to pay the whole cost of conducting the affairs of the commission, including salaries of the commission and employees, shall be made available to the commission on its request once each month. Opponents attack this provision on the basis that it permits the Commission to "write its own ticket."

SIX MILLION STARTER

The next section provides that if Proposition No. 6 is enacted, up to $6,000,000 is to be made available out of the State Treasury for the gambling Commission to put itself in operation.

The Act also provides that should the Commission not have enough money to conduct its affairs and meet obligations from gambling revenue that any deficit shall be paid out of the State Treasury.

The Commission would have absolute power over all gambling, determining from among license applicants who could and who could not operate. The Commission would be empowered to run its own gambling spots if it wished and apparently the individual commissioners could operate gambling establishments for their own profit if they so desired.

CRIME INVITATION

Opponents of Proposition No. 6 bitterly criticize it as an open invitation to the national crime syndicates to move in on California. Advocates state that gambling should be legalized just as was the sale of liquor (a parallel that is lacking in a few important respects).

The decision before the electorate is whether to vote "yes" and "legalize" gambling under the near-absolute control of a self-appointed Commission or to vote "no" on Proposition No. 6, thwarting the plans of wide-open gambling advocates.

BOULEVARD AND BYWAY

Those of us who have wielded a paint brush around the house know that even the painting of a kitchen stool can have its little problems. If the painting of such a simple thing as a stool can have its problems, points out the National Automobile Club, just think what the painting of the fens of thousands of automobiles that roll along our assembly lines can be.

When the American automotive industry first went into mass production the painting of these automobiles gave the technical men their full quota of headaches. Paint dried slowly in these days and before a car could be carried off to the market it had to stand around for a while and be dried and sanded several times. Even after the invention of fast-drying lacquer in the early twenties many problems remained. Lacquers would fade and chip. When applied in damp weather they would quite often change color, wash away into an anemic white.

The automotive men, however, realized they had some work to do here and they soon set about doing it. They established laboratories where, under controlled conditions, they watched the wear and aging of paint. They exposed painted panels to the warm sun of Florida and to the biting salt air of the New England coast. They took painted panels and froze them, then bent them double to see how they would crack. And they took these same panels and exposed them to a barrage of gravel thrown by a device that simulated the conditions of driving on a gravel road behind another car.

From all these experiments they gained knowledge and with their knowledge they created improvements. Great advances were made in the preparation and treating of surfaces to be painted, and in the paints that were applied to these surfaces. New and more stable, more durable colors were added to their pot of tricks, were made available to the average car owner.

But problems still remain. The action of moisture and light on paint is not yet fully understood and the morning dew can still steal the luster from your car in a most effective way. To solve these problems the research goes on and all to the end that your car may be brighter and shinier when it rolls down the open road.
